Jim Hyde, Bureau of the Budget, telephoned in connection with the amendments to the internal Security Act proposed by MCUA with respect to tightening the security procedures in NSA. In particular he was interested in the termination authority which was patterned after the CIA law. I gave him some information on the reasons we had found the statute necessary and entremely helpful. He is to talk further with Walt Yangley in Justice. 7. Security, called and asked whether our copy of SNIE II-14-51 had been sent out of the Agency. if so to whom it had been sent, the date of its transmission and the date of its return if it had been returned. I advised that our copy of this SNIE had not been sent out of the Agency. 8. Jay Securine, Senate Internal Security Subcommittee staff, called and said he was interested in getting a message to who is presently in but did not wish to convey was that the Subcommittee would like to have her testify about her book had would pay her expenses to Washington and back reimburse her fer these expenses. Sourwine said she was presently residing at who said that the present of the author of it. She had previously been very close to Castr but had been very helpful to us and that WH would not like to see her appears a witness before the Subcommittee. It was agreed that would send a message to on this and we would merely advise Sourw that we thought we could get a message to her. This in ne way should be	Journal - Office of Legislative Cou Friday - 16 March 1962	nsel Page 2 telephened in connection with the amendments to the internal Security Act proposed by HCUA with respect to tightening the security procedures in NSA. In particular he was interested in the termination authority which was patterned after the CIA law. I gave him some information on the reasons we had found the statute necessary and entremely helpful. He is to talk further with Walt Yeagley in Justice. 7. Security, called and asked whether our copy of SNIE II-14-61 had been sent out of the Agency, if so to whom it had been sent, the date of its transmission and the date of its return if it had been returned. I advised that our copy of this SNIE had not been sent out of the Agency. 8. Jay Senswine, Senate Internal Security Sub- committee staff, called and said he was interested in getting a message te who is presently in but did not wish to com- municate with her in writing. The message he wished to convey was that the Subcommittee would like to have her testify about her book and would pay her expenses to Washington and back reimburse her for these expenses. Sourwine said she was presently residing at the suthor of it. She had previously been very close to Castr but had been very heipful to us and that WH would not like to see her apper as a witness before the Subcommittee. It was agreed that would send a message to on this and we would merely advise Sourw that we thought we could get a message to her. This in no way should be telephened in connection with the amendments to the internal Security Act proposed by HCUA with respect to tightening the security procedures in NSA. In particular he was interested in the termination authority which was patterned after the CIA law. I gave him some information on the reasons we had found the statute necessary and entremely helpful. He is to talk further with Walt Yeagley in Justice. 7. Security, called and asked whether our copy of SNIE II-14-61 had been sent out of the Agency, if so to whom it had been sent, the date of its transmission and the date of its return if it had been returned. I advised that our copy of this SNIE had not been sent out of the Agency. 8. Jay Senswine, Senate Internal Security Sub- committee staff, called and said he was interested in getting a message te who is presently in but did not wish to com- municate with her in writing. The message he wished to convey was that the Subcommittee would like to have her testify about her book and would pay her expenses to Washington and back reimburse her for these expenses. Sourwine said she was presently residing at the suthor of it. She had previously been very close to Castr but had been very heipful to us and that WH would not like to see her apper as a witness before the Subcommittee. It was agreed that would send a message to on this and we would merely advise Sourw that we thought we could get a message to her. This in no way should be telephened in connection with the amendments to the internal Security Act proposed by HCUA with respect to tightening the security procedures in NSA. In particular he was interested in the termination authority which was patterned after the CIA law. I gave him some information on the reasons we had found the statute necessary and entremely helpful. He is to talk further with Walt Yeagley in Justice. 7. Security, called and asked whether our copy of SNIE II-14-61 had been sent out of the Agency, if so to whom it had been sent, the date of its transmission and the date of its return if it had been returned. I advised that our copy of this SNIE had not been sent out of the Agency. 8. Jay Senswine, Senate Internal Security Sub- committee staff, called and said he was interested in getting a message te who is presently in but did not wish to com- municate with her in writing. The message he wished to convey was that the Subcommittee would like to have her testify about her book and would pay her expenses to Washington and back reimburse her for these expenses. Sourwine said she was presently residing at the suthor of it. She had previously been very close to Castr but had been very heipful to us and that WH would not like to see her apper as a witness before the Subcommittee. It was agreed that would send a message to on this and we would merely advise Sourw that we thought we could get a message to her. This in no way should be
telephened in connection with the amendments to the internal Security Act proposed by HCUA with respect to tightening the security procedures in NSA. In particular he was interested in the termination authority which was patterned after the CIA law. I gave him some information on the reasons we had found the statute necessary and entremely helpful. He is to talk further with Walt Yeagley in Justice. 7. Security, called and asked whether our copy of SNIE II-14-61 had been sent out of the Agency, if so to whom it had been sent, the date of its transmission and the date of its return if it had been returned. I advised that our copy of this SNIE had not been sent out of the Agency. 8. Jay Senswine, Senate Internal Security Sub- committee staff, called and said he was interested in getting a message te who is presently in but did not wish to com- municate with her in writing. The message he wished to convey was that the Subcommittee would like to have her testify about her book and would pay her expenses to Washington and back reimburse her for these expenses. Sourwine said she was presently residing at the suthor of it. She had previously been very close to Castr but had been very heipful to us and that WH would not like to see her apper as a witness before the Subcommittee. It was agreed that would send a message to on this and we would merely advise Sourw that we thought we could get a message to her. This in no way should be		Jim Hydo, Bureau of the Budget.
precedures in NSA. In particular he was interested in the termination authority which was patterned after the CIA law. I gave him some information on the reasons we had found the statute necessary and extremely helpful. He is to talk further with Walt Yeagley in Justice. 7. Security, called and asked whether our copy of SNIE II-14-61 had been sent out of the Agency. If so to whom it had been sent, the date of its transmission and the date of its return if it had been returned. I advised that our copy of this SNIE had not been sent out of the Agency. 8. Jay Seurwine, Senate Internal Security Subcermittee staff, called and eaid he was interested in getting a message to who is presently in but did not wish to communicate with her in writing. The message he wished to convey was that the Subcommittee would like to have her testify about her book had would pay her expenses to Washington and back reimburse her for these expenses. Sourwine said she was presently residing at I discussed this with translated the book but was not the author of it. She had previously been very close to Castr but had been very helpful to us and that WH would not like to see her appears a witness before the Subcommittee. It was agreed that would send a message to on this and we would merely advise Sourw that we thought we could get a message to her. This is no way should be	elephoned in connection with the a	mendments to the Internal Security authority which was patterned after the CIA law. I gave him some information on the reasons we had found the statute necessary and entremely helpful. He is to talk further with Walt Yeagley in Justice. 7. Security, called and asked whether our copy of SNIE II=14-51 had been sent out of the Agency. If so to whom it had been sent, the date of its transmission and the date of its return if it had been returned. I advised that our copy of this SNIE had not been sent out of the Agency. 8. Jay Seurwine, Senate Internal Security Subcommittee staff, called and eaid he was interested in getting a message to who is presently in but did not wish to communicate with her in writing. The message he wished to convey was that the Subcommittee would like to have her testify about her book and would pay her expenses to Washington and back reimburse her for these expenses. Sourwine said she was presently residing at I discussed this with translated the book but was not the author of it. She had previously been very close to Castr but had been very helpful to us and that WH would not like to see her appears as a witness before the Subcommittee. It was agreed that would send a message to on this and we would merely advise Sourw that we thought we could get a message to her. This is no way should be asked whether our copy of SNIE 11-14-61 had been sent out of the Agency, if so to whom it had been sent, the date of its transmission and the date of its return if it had been returned. I advised that our copy of this SNIE had not been sent out of the Agency. 3. Jay Seurwine, Senate Internal Security Subcommittee staff, called and said he was interested in getting a message to who is presently in but did not wish to communicate with her in writing. The message he wished to convey was that the Subcommittee would like to have her testify about her book reimburse her for these expenses. Sourwine said she was presently residing at who said that translated the book but was not the author of it. She had previously been very close to Castr but had been very helpful to us and that WH would not like to see her appears a witness before the Subcommittee. It was agreed that would send a message to on this and we would merely advise Sourw that we thought we could get a message to her. This is no way should be	sethority which was patterned after	the CIA law. I gave him some asked whether our copy of SNIE II-14-61 had been sent out of the Agency. If so to whom it had been sent, the date of its transmission and the date of its return if it had been returned. I advised that our copy of this SNIE had not been sent out of the Agency. 3.
asked whether our copy of SNIE II-14-61 had been sent out of the Agency. If so to whom it had been sent, the date of its transmission and the date of its return if it had been returned. I advised that our copy of this SNIE had not been sent out of the Agency. 3.
if so to whom it had been sent, the date of its transmission and the date of its return if it had been returned. I advised	7. SMTE II-
of this SNIE had not been sent out of the Agency. 3.	so to whom it had been sent, the	date of its transmission and the date
Jay Searwine. Senate Internal Security Sub- committee staff, called and said he was interested in getting a message te who is presently in but did not wish to com- municate with her in writing. The message he wished to convey was that the Subcommittee would like to have her testify about her book Ind would pay her expenses to Washington and back reimburse her for these expenses. Sourwine said she was presently residing at I discussed this with who said that translated the book but was not the author of it. She had previously been very close to Castr but had been very helpful to us and that WH would not like to see her appears a witness before the Subcommittee. It was agreed that would send a message to on this and we would merely advise Sourv that we thought we could get a message to her. This is no way should be	d its return if it had been returne	d. I advisedthat our copy committee staff, called and said he was interested in getting a message to who is presently in but did not wish to communicate with her in writing. The message he wished to convey was that the Subcommittee would like to have her testify about her book ind would pay her expenses to Washington and back reimburse her for these expenses. Sourwine said she was presently residing at I discussed this with who said that translated the book but was not the author of it. She had previously been very close to Castr but had been very helpful to us and that WH would not like to see her appears as a witness before the Subcommittee. It was agreed that would send a message to on this and we would merely advise Sourw that we thought we could get a message to her. This in no way should be	I this SNIE had not been sent out o	f the Agency.
committee staff, called and said he was interested in getting a message to who is presently in but did not wish to communicate with her in writing. The message he wished to convey was that the Subcommittee would like to have her testify about her book ind would pay her expenses to Washington and back reimburse her for these expenses. Sourwine said she was presently residing at I discussed this with who said that translated the book but was not the author of it. She had previously been very close to Castr but had been very helpful to us and that WH would not like to see her appears as a witness before the Subcommittee. It was agreed that would send a message to on this and we would merely advise Sourw that we thought we could get a message to her. This in no way should be	a. Jay See	rwine, Senate Internal Security Submunicate with her in writing. The message he wished to convey was that the Subcommittee would like to have her testify about her book and would pay her expenses to Washington and back reimburse her for these expenses. Sourwine said she was presently residing at who said that translated the book but was not the author of it. She had previously been very close to Castr but had been very helpful to us and that WH would not like to see her appears as a witness before the Subcommittee. It was agreed that send a message to on this and we would merely advise Sourw that we thought we could get a message to her. This in no way should be		was interested in getting a message the Subcommittee would like to have her testify about her book Ind would pay her expenses to Washington and back reimburse her for these expenses. Sourwine said she was presently residing at I discussed this with who said that translated the book but was not the author of it. She had previously been very close to Castr but had been very helpful to us and that WH would not like to see her appears a witness before the Subcommittee. It was agreed that on this and we would merely advise Sourv that we thought we could get a message to her. This in no way should be reimburse her for these expenses. Sourwine said she was presently residing at I discussed this with	nunicate with her in writing. The	message he wished to convey was that
reimburse her for these expenses. Sourwine said she was presently residing at I discussed this with who said that translated the book	be Subcommittee would like to nav	her eveness to Washington and back of
but was not the author of it. She had previously been very close to Caeta but had been very helpful to us and that WH would not like to see her appears a witness before the Subcommittee. It was agreed that would not like to see her appears a message to	almhursa her for these expenses.	Sourvine said she was presently who said that		I discussed this with but had been very helpful to us and that WH would not like to see her appears as a witness before the Subcommittee. It was agreed that would send a message to on this and we would merely advise Sourve that we thought we could get a message to her. This is no way should be	who sale as a witness before the Subcommittee. It was agreed that	out was not the author of it. She ha	ad previously been very close to Castro send a message to on this and we would merely advise Sourve that we thought we could get a message to her. This is no way should be	sut had been very helpful to us and	that WH would not like to see her appear that we thought we could get a message to her. This is no way should be		the state of the s that we thought we could get a message to ner. This is no way should be ,我们就是我们的现在分词,我们就是这种的人,我们就是一个人,我们就是我们的人,我们就是我们的人,我们就是我们的人,我们就是我们的人,我们就是我们的人,我们就没有	hat we thought we could get a mes	sage to ser. I all an so way should be
Approved For Release 2004/07/07: CIA-RDP64B00346R000300190015-7

MISSING PAGE

ORIGINAL DOCUMENT MISSING PAGE(S):

Approved For Release 2004/07/07: CIA-RDP64B00346R000300190015-7